EXAMS NEXT MONDAY

REGISTRANTS WILL BE CALLED TO QUALIFY PHYSICALLY

ALL QUESTIONS ARE IN

Those Who Prove Wedding Plans Were Made Prior to May 18 Last, to Be Placed In Class IV

Registrants in Class I will begin to receive this week cards calling them before the local board for physical examination, beginning in all probability next Monday, January 28. All questionnaires are in except in a very few cases where registrants have moved and have not yet been located by the board. Classification notice cards have been sent to all registrants that have been passed on by the district board and to those whose questionnaires did not require being sent to the district board for examination.

Several physical examinations have already been made, being emergency cases where it was inconvenient for the registrants to be on hand when the examination would be called. Frank D. Childress, Walter Shrubshell and Clyde Bliss were examined last week. Childress and Shrubshell qualified physically. Bliss failed to meet the requirements.

Draft registrants who have married since May 18 probably will not see military service, at least until the first three classes of registered men are exhausted. The district appeal board has announced it would grant deferred classification to registrants married since the passage of the Selective Service laws, who produce proof to convince the board their intention to marry was formed previous to the enactment of the Draft Law.

In cases where the registrant has been placed in Class I by his local board and has appealed to the district board for deferred classification because of his wife, acquired since May 18, his appeal will be granted, provided he substantiates his claim.

Pinned to some of the questionnaires are marriage licenses and affidavits from ministers, judges or other officials stating the registrant had been engaged prior to May 18.

M.H.S-HOPKINS GAME TUESDAY

The Return Event Tomorrow Night Will Be High School's First Game On the Home Court

The High School basket ball team will play a postponed game with the Hopkins team tomorrow night at the Normal gym, the game being scheduled to start at 7:30 o'clock. The team will be chosen from the following players: Yehle and Yowell, centers; Puckett, Egley and Robinson, forwards; Pickens, King, Kirby and Price, guards.

This is the first game of the schedule to be played at Maryville and with a winning team in sight the attendance is expected to be larger than it has ever been. Season tickets for the five games on the home court are on sale for $1.00.

The game at Hopkins on January 3 resulted in a victory for the M. H. S., and with continued practice they expect to do even better tomorrow night. The postponed Maitland game will be arranged for an early date.

LAYMEN, GET READY

BANQUET TOMORROW NIGHT IS FORERUNNER OF K.C. MEETING

SPEAKERS ANNOUNCED

Rev. A. LaGrand and E. O. Brostrom Will Be Here to Tell of Big Meeting in February

"Laymen, get ready for the big convention in Kansas City, February 21-24." This is the message to be brought to the churches and laymen of this community at 8 o'clock tomorrow night by Rev. A. LaGrand and E. O. Brostrom, the latter a layman and business man, both of Kansas City, Mo. The place of meeting is the Presbyterian church, where a big banquet will be served by the ladies of the church, plates being fifty cents. It is expected than one hundred and fifty men will be present.

The occasion of the visit of these men from our neighboring metropolis is to organize a delegation to attend the convention of The Laymen's Missionary Movement, to be held in Convention Hall in Kansas City on the dates mentioned. A local committee has been organized and churches are getting their men to agree to attend. It is expected that 6,000 delegates will register. Big speakers who have been all over the world will address the convention next month. The task of the church was never so great as now, according to leaders of the Laymen's Movement. The purpose of the Kansas City convention is to inform and stimulate the laymen of the churches. No offerings are asked nor pledges taken at the convention. The registration fee of $1.00 covers all expenses.

President Wilson and his cabinet have assured their co-operation, it was stated. An effort will be made to add one hundred thousand new volunteer scout leaders to the membership roll. The campaign marks the eighth anniversary of the Boy Scout movement in the United States.

TAX AGENT IS HERE

F. R. SHEETZ WILL AID IN MAKING INCOME TAX REPORT

URGES LISTS BE MADE

Itemize Your Income and Expenses as Preliminary Step, When Status May Be Easily Decided

E. R. Sheetz of Trenton, Mo., special agent of the internal revenue department, is here this week to assist all who will pay income tax to make out their reports to the government. Mr. Sheetz has been provided with office room at the court house and may be found in the county court room. He will be joined tomorrow by S. H. Smith from the Kansas City office, who will also aid persons in making out reports and giving information.

Seekers after information began arriving early and Mr. Sheetz was kept busy explaining the provisions of the law and what was expected of those who must pay the tax.

Mr. Sheetz pointed out that it will greatly facilitate the work if all who must make out reports first figure out their expenses and disbursements for the year before coming to ask information. By each one having such a record he will have a basis to work on, and if there are any irregularities or any points that are not understood he will have information at hand to guide in making corrections.

"If you believe you must pay an income tax," advises Mr. Sheetz, "get out pencil and paper and make an itemized list of income receipts, then bring them to this office and it can readily be decided whether or not you are within the provisions of the law and what your income tax will be."

Mr. Sheetz points out that a great deal of time may be saved and every one given an opportunity to learn all the requirements of the law if this plan is followed.

Farmers especially appear to be largely at sea concerning the requirements of the income tax law and Mr. Sheetz says the same rule will apply to others. The income tax is based on income and expense and the farmer is required to ascertain and report on each just as a person in other business.

CLASSES IN AGRICULTURE

Five Schools Announce Public Demonstrations of New System on February 3 and 12

Another public demonstration by the class in vitalized agriculture at the Lasher school southwest of Maryville will be given on the evening of February 3 with classes from two other schools, Elm Grove and Belle Grove, taking part.

So interesting has the work in vitalized agriculture become that announcement of demonstrations always serves to bring a large crowd of farmers and school patrons to learn about the new method of teaching agriculture in a practical manner to school children. A similar demonstration will be held on February 12 when classes in Mt. Pleasant and Glendale schools will take part.

ASKS SCOUTS AID

PRESIDENT REQUESTS BOYS TO ACT AS DISPATCH BEARERS

TO GIVE OUT PAMPHLETS

War Literature From the Committee On Public Information Will Be Distributed Widely

President Wilson has sent the following letter to Colin H. Livingstone, president, National Council, Boy Scouts of America:

"My Dear Mr. Livingstone:

"I desire to entrust the Boy Scouts of America with a new and important commission, to make them the government dispatch bearers in carrying to the homes of their community the pamphlets on war, prepared by the Committee on Public Information. The excellent services performed by the Boy Scouts in the past encourages me to believe that this new task will be cheerfully and faithfully discharged.

"Yours sincerely,

"WOODROW WILSON."

The Boy Scouts of America, numbering nearly 300,000, have responded to the request of the president with hearty unanimity and will undertake, as their first dispatch-bearing service, a distribution of copies of the president's Flag Day address, published by the Committee on Public Information in pamphlet form on September 15, 1917, and regarded as the most comprehensive statement that has been issued by the government in regard to the fundamental issues of the war.

It is the desire of the administration that this pamphlet have careful study by the people of the country and the Boy Scouts, acting as dispatch bearers directly under the command of the President, will place the document in the hands of five million citizens of every city, town and hamlet of the country, with specific instructions that its contents be carefully considered and that the reader then make it his personal responsibility to see that at least one other citizen of the community also reads the copy. By these means a minimum of ten millions of thoughful citizens will have had this important message impressed upon their minds or will have been refreshed in mem-

TURKISH NAVY WIPED OUT

Loss of Two Big Cruisers, Together With British Victories, May Bring Peace Terms Quicker

Special to The Democrat-Forum.

London, Jan. 21.—Turkey's navy has practically been wiped out by the loss of the big cruisers Sultan Seli and Midulto, formerly the German cruisers Goeben and Brestlau and the Daily News predicted today that this blow, together with British victories on Turkish soil, will hasten the Ottoman empire into making peace. Two British monitors were sunk in a naval engagement which took place at the mouth of the Dardenelles Sunday and the Brestlau was sunk and the Goeben driven ashore where it was badly damaged by bombs dropped by British airmen.

AFTER 'HIGHER-UPS'

JUDGE DAWSON DEFERS SENTENCE ON AUTOMOBILE THIEVES

BOYS WERE TOOLS ONLY

Elmer Dix and Perry Hartness Plead Guilty in Circuit Court—Fines for Graham Men on Assault Charge

In circuit court this afternoon Elmer Dix and Perry Hartness, charged with the theft of an automobile at Burlington Junction last fall, changed their plea of not guilty to a plea of guilty. Judge Dawson, in view of the fact that the boys are believed to have been the tools of older persons who persuaded them to attempt the theft of the car, and in order that they may divulge the names of the parties "higher up," withheld sentence for a time.

Charles and James Wilfong of Graham, pleaded guilty to assault and were fined $100 each. David Gelvin of Graham was the prosecuting witness in the case in which seven others are also under arrest on a like charge, and told his story of the assault to the court. Justice Ed Goodpasture was also a witness in the case.

Mell Graham, charged with wrongfully entering a school house pleaded guilty and was fined $500 and given a six months jail sentence. On payment of $50 and by making a bond for $500 he was granted a parole.

In the case of the city against Wm. Everhart, in which a temporary injunction was issued, restraining him from removing certain improvements from ground at the pump station, the defendant filed a motion to dissolve the temporary restraining order and to dismiss the bill therefor.

On the divorce docket the following cases were disposed of

Viva M. Dicken against Amos R. Dicken, plaintiff was awarded decree and given the custody o fa minor child, Clifford Ray Dicken.

In the case of B. F. Mozingo vs. Wm. Mozingo, in which an injunction order was issued, the plaintiff dismissed the suit.

The following were continued on parole C. E. Piveral, Harry West, John Gill, Lee Curry, Pearl Hewitt, Sam Donigan, O. D. DON'T SEND SOLDIERS FOOD

State Defense Council Points Out That a Large Part Spoils Enroute Causing Sickness if Eeaten

Members of the Commercial Club at the luncheon today noon were urged to co-operate in a plea from the Missouri Council of Defense, that friends and families of soldiers refrain from sending them food of any sort. It is pointed out that because of heated mail and express cars a large per cent of the food is destroyed enroute. It is also a fact that some of the food spoils and is unhealthy, causing sickness among the soldiers. Other kinds of remembrances should be sent, it is declared.

IMPROVES DRY GOODS STORE

H. L. Haines Adds Quarters and Equipment for Baby Goods Department

A mezzanine deck floor for the accommodation of a special baby goods department has been built on the center north side of the Haines dry goods store. The improvement adds materially to the general appearance of the store and the placing of glass cabinets and shelving to hold the dainty finery suitable for the "littlest one" greatly facilitates the display and selling space.

Mr. Haines expects to make some other improvements in the store interior this spring.

OFFER THE HOSPITAL

SISTERS OF ST. FRANCIS WOULD AID THE GOVERNMENT

NO STRINGS TO PLEDGE

If Necessary, Would Abandon Building for Base Hospital and Seek Service in Other Places

The Sisters of St. Francis are willing, if necessary, to entirely abandon the St. Francis hospital for use by the United States as a base hospital.

Authority to make this statement was given by Dr. F. R. Anthony, chairman of the Nodaway chapter of the Red Cross, who reported the decision to the Commercial Club at luncheon today. The club is making an effort to have this county designated as a location for one of the base hospitals for convalescent soldiers.

The matter is now before the proper authorities in Washington, D. C., and the secretary was instructed to rush the further information that the local hospital could be placed at the service of the government. It is believed that no organization or group of individuals in Maryville has taken such a decided war stand as that which offered the use of the hospital to the government. If necessary the Sisters agree to leave the institution and go to other hospitals in the country, leaving it to the exclusive use of the federal authorities.

The hospital is modern in every detail, has two large operating rooms and beds for seventy-five patients. It could be added to with ease and made to accommodate three times as many without encroaching upon any neighboring property.

Plans were under consideration before the war to enlarge the hospital to about three times its present capacity.

SEN. STONE FLAYS T. R. AND G. O. P.

MISSOURIAN DECLARES THEY ARE USING THE GREAT WAR TO MAKE POLITICAL MUNITIONS

SHARPLY DENOUNCES KANSAS CITY STAR

Accuses Roosevelt of Being the Best Friend Kaiser Bill Has In America, In a Speech Before the Senate This Afternoon

Special to The Democrat-Forum.

Washington, Jan. 21. — In one of the most violent and sensational speeches ever heard in the United States senate, Senator Stone of Missouri, chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, today bluntly accused the Republican party of using the war to play politics. He also characterized Theodore Roosevelt as "the most potent and willing friend of the kaiser in America."

His speech set the political cauldron seething. Conservative Republicans and Roosevelt Progressives buried their differences and united to hurl back at the Missouri senator a terrific counter offensive. Professedly seeking to quell partisanship in the war, Senator Stone apparently only precipitated a storm.

Senator Stone centered his attack upon Roosevelt, whom he called "my star witness."

Flays T. R. Unmercifully.

"Of all men," he said, "Roosevelt is most responsible for what he denounces. He does his work cunningly. In the front of his propaganda he throws a deceptive camouflage. I charge that Theodore Roosevelt is the most potent and willing friend of the kaiser in Amrcica.

"I will not now particularize about his former very close intimacy with the kaiser himself, and with the kaiser's American ambassador, Count Bernstorff; that particularization is unnecessary. These things are historical. I cannot escape the belief that this exceptional colonel, who has played so many games of questionable politics, is now playing another game of his particular brand for a very great stake.

Assails Senator Penrose, Too.

Senator Stone also assailed Senator Boise Penrose of Pennsylvania and Chairman William R. Wilcox of the Republican National Committee, whom he accused of leading the Republican assault upon the war administration.

"The recent tendency of many, not all, but many, Republicans sitting in this body in manifest concert with dominant Republican leaders throughout the country, to make politics out of the war has become too evident to be longer passed in silence," said Senator Stone.

"I think the time has come to strike a final blow, if that be possible,

If the German fad of paper pants spreads to this country some of us will have to learn a new way of striking matches.

It is suggested that school vacations ought to be in winter so that coal might be saved. The kids all agree, for isn't coasting and skating good in winter?

A certain Maryville man likes to be the top dog—the most prominent person wherever he is. If he's at a wedding he wants to be the bride, and if he's at a funeral he wants to be the corpse.

The fellow who declares that he likes winter certainly ought to be in raptures this season.

If the fellow who is always trying to "kill time" would only confine himself to his own time, he would not be such an infernal nuisance. But he always wants to murder the time of the busy man.

The devil must be a pretty good sort, after all, to stand sponsor for everybody's cussedness.

A woman will stick to a man through fire and water, and then throw him down because she don't like the way he combs his hair.

A Maryville man we know will spend five dollars to find the best way to save five cents, and save money in the long run.

Before they were married he chokes her to death with bon-bons, and six months after the knot is tied she is just tickled to death if he buys her a nickel's worth of jelly beans.

A Nodaway county man was in Kansas City recently. He was seeing the sights in company with a friend, and remarked enthusiastically, "Gee, don't that feller Cafe own a bunch of saloons in this town!"

Soldier's Letters

Somewhere in France, Dec. 20.—Friend Jim: Will drop you a line or two just to let you know that I am alive and well, and hope you are the same; but we can't all be the same at one time.

I suppose you got the news of poor Frank McDougal. He was a good friend of mine. One year ago today Frank and I were skating on the old Hastings pond; but today we are still together in a pull for civilization, or what the big men call democracy. And, believe me, I am a democrat and right with Woodrow Wilson wherever he goes, and as long as the regulars are in France I'll be there, too.

I want you all to know that I am not with a militia outfit. We are called the "Pride of the Regulars," and you ought to see Battery D when she gets strung out. There is another red headed boy here from Missouri, and about ten per cent of the battery is named Smith. I say, old top, as the English say, I have more friends at home than I ever dreamed of. I received more surprising letters the other day. I received one from Wyoming—one I had been looking for for a long time—from a red headed pal of mine. I won't say whether it was from a male or female.

I imagine my ink-slinging looks to you like a hen walking across a clean sheet with her muddy feet. But you know what is wrong, so I won't tell you. Training, I guess.

The funniest thing you ever saw is an American soldier just here and an old time French soldier or some pretty French girl. He don't know what he or she is trying to get at, and then he will scratch his head and out comes his French book and then he studies a little bit more; but after he has been here about two weeks, look out, for he can talk as good as an old timer.

But we had the most fun in England. Sammies and Tommies got along swell together. It was "Hello, old chappie, old top," or "I say, old top," but they are all right, and believe me, they can put out the dope, too.

How is everything at home. I don't suppose you have forgotten when I was red headed and running around there with about steen dogs at my heels.

So they say that every soldier who is in active service in France will get a farm when he gets back to the States? When I get mine I can put up Liberty Bond posters and sell 'em. But if I get a farm I sure will buy out Barmann's Ford sales room, for a man can't farm without some racket and when Barmann's garage of Fords gets strung out they sure can stir up some noise. How do I konw? Well, my brother used to ride one home to dinner. He had a saddle on him and a steering gear on the right hind wheel.

The bull frogs over here are nine years old before they learn how to swim and the buildings are all built out of doors. Isn't it funny how nature will create such an awful thing?

When we passed in review, squads right, at Adams last fall, every one that saw our bunch said they were the best trained lot of soldiers they had seen in a long time, but if they had known I was there they wouldn't have said it. But it was a passing remark everywhere we went. The best behavior was performed by us and we were proud to think we were so well thought of, and one of these bright days we will parade down Broadway and it will be the home-coming of a regiment of not only good soldiers, but brave and strong and true to their flag and country. And when the news comes, if it ever does, that the troop ship is lying in the harbor, and the whistle blows New York-bound, that will be the home-coming of "RED."

My address is: Private Bryan Sells, Battery D, 7th Provisional Rgt., C. A., American Expeditionary Forces, France.

OREGON FARMERS PLAN TO SPURN SPUDS THIS YEAR

Salem, Ore., Jan. 21.—Shortage of labor in Oregon and the demand for better paying crops bid fair to make 1918 a potatoless year in the Beaver state, as far as ranchers are concerned. Much of the acreage heretofore given over to the tubers will be sown this spring to grain, while on other ranches fodder crops will replace spuds. Prices last fall for potatoes were good. With the planting of potatoes by every home gardener and house owner this spring the crop looks still less inviting.

MOST UNPATRIOTIC MAN IN WORLD IS DISCOVERED

Wellington, Kans., Jan. 21.—During the recent drive for Red Cross memberships here a man was approached and asked to take out a membership. He declined flatly and declared he had not subscribed for the Y. M. C. A. fund and the Liberty bonds and didn't propose to join the Red Cross.

When pressed for a reason, he said: "Why, didn't I pay $600 for a substitute to take my place in the ranks during the Civil War? That is enough for one man."

To Widows

If the husband die, leaving an estate of value to his wife and children, there are plenty of people who will try to get the widow's money away from her.

It is safe advice to caution her to make no investments whatever.

The Farmers Trust Co. will so advise all women, inasmuch as all matters that have the probability of profit and increase, also have the possibility of loss and decrease.

Estates left in trust should not fluctuate much in value.

SEN. STONE FLAYS T. R. AND G. O. P.

against partisan activity in the conduct of the war. I think this spirit of partisanship should be struck dead at once. There is no need for us to be over-fastidious about this or try to fool each other or to fool the country. Republican leaders in and out of politics are undoubtedly seeking to make politics out of the war.

Making Politics Out of War.

"There is to be an election next fall. A new house of representatives and one-third of the senate are to be chosen. Here is a chance to the dominant Republican politicians of the country—some of them, perhaps not more than one of them, seeking to promote his immediate personal glorification, and others acting on a large scale, to promote a party advantage—to strike hard to turn down this administration and take the government over into their own hands. That fight is now on. Let no man deceive himself about that.

"If there be one who does not see this he is blind. Rising out of this cloud is the abhorrent figure of a political hag stirring the cauldron of domestic partisanship to disturb even in this hour of national peril the sympathetic unity of the American people. That presents a grave problem of national moment at this time.

Raps R. C. Star.

Senator Stone declared that the resolutions calling for the numerous congressional investigations into the conduct of the war came almost exclusively from the Roosevelt side. He quoted from recent published interviews of Senator Penrose and Chairman Wilcox to sustain his charges that the Republicans are playing politics. He based his accusation mainly, however, on the editorials written by Roosevelt for the Kansas City Star.

Accuses T. R. of Sedition.

"I now introduce my star witness, Theodore Roosevelt, himself, whom I characterize as the most seditious man of consequence in America," he said. "The heart of this man is aflame with ambition and he runs amuck."

"On my responsibility as a senator, I charge that since our entrance into the war Roosevelt has been a menace and an obstruction to the successful prosecution of the war. His chief thought has not been to help the government solve the weighty problems it has to solve, but always his chief thought has been Roosevelt.

"Almost every day this man speaks in bitter and contemptuous disparagement of the president and of the majority of the members of congress. Every week for a long time he has been and still is publishing under contract for money consideration—think of it, for money — villainous screeds in the Kansas City Star.

ory as to the principles of the war as expressed by the president on September 15.

The pamphlets will be sent through the mails to the individual Scouts and in each package there will be a manual for the guidance of these young government messengers. Acting under the local instructions of the Scoutmasters the dispatch bearers will deliver such printed matter as may be issued from time to time by the Committee on Public Information to citizens, carefully avoiding duplication. They will accept signed receipts from the persons visited and also their personal assurance that they will comply with the requests made, particularly to aid distribution by passing the documents to others.

Each Boy Scout is provided with an identification card, bearing his name, troop number, city and state, and declaring his appointment as an aide to the Committee on Public Information to serve as dispatch bearer for the government during the period covered by his registration, under the direction of the National Council, Boy Scouts of America. President Wilson's letter requesting the service is reproduced in facsimile on the reverse side of the identification card.

Each Scout dispatch bearer will have access to franked postal cards, returnable to the Committee on Public Information, by means of which any citizen may order mailed to him any of the various war pamphlets which the Committee on Public Information has published during the war.

Proposed Drastic Draft Law.

Special to The Democrat-Forum.

Washington, Jan. 21.—Senator McCumber of North Dakota introduced the most drastic measure yet proposed in a bill, which authorized the drafting of all males over eighteen and under sixty-two years. He predicted that such measures will be necessary before the end of the war.

AUSTRIA WOULD HAVE PEACE

Demonstrations Bring German Troops With Orders to Shoot Down Striking Rioters

Berne, Jan. 21.—So serious has the international situation now become in Austria through labor strikes and peace demonstrations that Germany has sent large forces of troops to industrial centers with orders to shoot down rioting strikers and force them back into the factories, according to information today from the Austrian frontier. There is an unconfirmed report that martial law has been declared in communities where there has been an industrial tie-up that has crippled the output of war supplies.

There was another bi gpeace demonstration in Vienna Sunday, when old men, women and children marched through the streets accompanied by crippled soldiers who had been disabled in the war.

Agree on Peace Terms.

Special to The Democrat-Forum.

Berlin, Jan. 21.—The German and Ukranian envoys at the Brest-Lotovsk peace conference have reached an agreement, it is officially announced. The agreement, it is announced, will form the basis for a treaty, the first agreement since the war began, for peace between beligenents.

HOW ESKIMOS HUNT THE SEAL

Pursuers of Rich-Furred Animals Sneak Up Close Enough to Shoot Arrow Into Their Head.

Today the Eskimo method of hunting seals is a primitive calling improved to a fine art, writes a naturalist. When a seal is discovered the direction of the wind is at once noted. Then the hunter, keeping himself to the leeward of the seal, walks up to within about a quarter of a mile of it. Beyond this he begins to crouch and advances only when the seal's head is down.

Now, as the seal is one of the most wide-awake of animals and has the habit of throwing up its head quickly every few seconds to guard against danger, it follows that the Eskimo has to be extremely alert if he would get his seal. When the seal's head is down upon the ice its eyes are shut, and it is said that in these brief intervals it takes its sleep.

The hunter, by carefully watching the seal's movements, is able without much difficulty to get within about 200 yards of it, but at closer quarters he is obliged to employ other tactics. He lies down at full length on the ice. Then the real sport begins.

When the seal's head is down the hunter, who keeps a keen eye on his prey, is able to approach still nearer by dragging himself forward on his elbows. This manoeuvring continues for some time, until the distance between man and beast has been reduced to a few yards.

When near enough to make a sure shot, the Eskimo takes his bow and arrow from his side and sends a swift shaft through the head of its outwitted companion.

McMick's New Building.

There is a fine new building of white marble and Greek architecture in a western city. On the corner-stone is engraved the date of the building's erection. It was begun in 1909, but, following the usual custom, the date is in Roman capitals, thus: MCMIX.

The other day one citizen approached another and asked him if he had seen their common friend Danny that day.

"I sure did," replied the second man. "A few minutes ago I seen him standing in front of McMick's new building over there on the corner."

The Gentle Passion.

William Gillette, the actor, was showing George H. Broadhurst, the playwright, over his country estate. They arrived at the sheepfold and at sight of their master the woolly inmates came bleating to the bars.

"See how the little things love me, George," said the owner proudly.

"Love, thunder," said Broadhurst. "They come to you because they are hungry and they think you are going to feed them."

"George," said Gillette, "when you have reached a certain age that passes for love."—Saturday Evening Post.

What Future for Women?

Women have always had a wider range of industrial opportunity in this country than abroad; war will inevitably widen the range, observes a writer. A dearth of men will necessitate her acceptance of such activities, and for a time at least, her continuance in them. What is to be the result? What changes will occur in her temperament, her standards, and her attitude toward life, in consequence? No one can predict them.

WHILE AT WAR
Women Suffer at Home

St. Louis, Mo.—"I had woman's weakness very bad. I suffered so much that I could scarcely stand with comfort. One bottle of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription gave me such wonderful relief that I just gave myself a course of treatment with both the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and the 'Favorite Prescription' until I was absolutely cured. Ten years have elapsed since that time and I have been in perfect health all the while. I feel safe in saying that I owe my present splendid physical condition to the use of these remedies."—Mrs. Elizabeth Wilkie, 812 Chambers St.
"Favorite Prescription," the ever-famous friend to ailing women, and "Golden Medical Discovery," the greatest general tonic, are both put up in liquid and tablets, contain no alcohol or habit-forming drugs, and are to be found in nearly all drug stores. The tablets cost 60 cents. These medicines of Dr. Pierce's have enjoyed an immense sale for nearly 50 years, which proves their merits as well as the statements made by users. If not obtainable at your dealer's send 10 cents to Dr. Pierce, Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y. and he will mail trial package of either tablets; also write for free medical advice if there is need.
The lower intestine is like a garbage box and should be cleaned occasionally. To keep well take a purely vegetable laxative pill made up of May-apple, leaves of Aloe, and jalap, sugar-coated, and sold by druggists as Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

FIGHT FANS DISAPPOINTED

Promoters of Boxing Match at Parnell Are Not Allowed to Pull Off Contest Tonight

Parnell sports who were anticipating a boxing match this evening will be disappointed, as Sheriff John F. Dowden and County Attorney W. G. Sawyers have ordered the bout announced there for tonight stopped.

The contest was advertised widely and a great influx of fight fans was expected in the little burg this evening, but there came a complaint and request from a number of citizens to the county seat and the promoters were ordered to call the match off. They were here this afternoon in an effort to put on the show, but were told there would be nothing doing and that if the contest was attempted the sheriff would have it stopped.

HUNTED BY WILD ELEPHANT

Carl E. Akeley, Naturalist, Relates Experience of Being Attacked by Massive South African Beast.

The hunter and taxidermist, Carl E. Akeley, who has spent a great deal of painstaking effort in preparing the wonderful animal groups at the American Museum of Natural History, is known throughout South Africa as an elephant hunter. He has had many thrilling experiences, one of which he describes in the New York Sun as follows:

Elephants are no more conspicuous in their own country than jack rabbits are in theirs. They are the color of the shadows in the forest and almost as indistinguishable. Intelligence and vindictiveness are two of their most prominent characteristics. When one knows he is being hunted he will lie in wait, still as a rock, and looking much like one, and will hunt his hunter as a dog hunts a rat.

I had cut a big bull out from a herd and was following his spoor, knowing well enough that he was lying in wait for me somewhere. The big beast, as it turned out afterwards, got my wind as I was stalking him, and was searching for me.

I must have got within ten or twenty feet of him, because I remembered afterward that I heard a swift rush but did not catch sight of him coming. The first I knew of his presence was a quick vision of his trunk as he knocked me down. Then I caught one glimpse of his little eyes as he curled up his trunk out of the way and tried to impale me with his tusks.

I had just time to grasp a tusk with my left hand and twist myself so that my body was between the two shafts of ivory. I felt the impact of his tusks as they dug into the ground on either side of me, and his heavy nose crushed against my chest. That is all I remember.

My hunter fortunately shot him dead as he was preparing for another thrust. I was unconscious as they carried me to the camp, where I lay for three months, with my chest so crushed that it was doubtful whether or not I should live.

CLOUDS ENVELOP AN ISLAND

Mass of Rock Near New Zealand Is Nearly Three Miles in Circumference and Always Shrouded.

White Island, 30 miles distant from New Zealand, is probably the most extraordinary island in the world. It is an enormous mass of rock nearly three miles in circumference, rising 900 feet above the sea, and is perpetually enveloped in dark clouds, which are visible for nearly a hundred miles, says a writer.

The island consists almost entirely of sulphur, with a small percentage of gypsum. Some years ago an attempt was made to float a company to work the sulphur, which is of high quality; but, strange to say, sufficient capital was not subscribed. Therefore the export of sulphur from White island is still very small.

In the interior is a lage fully fifty acres in extent, the vapor of which has a temperature of 110 degrees F. and is strongly impregnated with acids. On one side of this lake are craters from which steam escapes with great force and noise. This steam and the vapor from the lake form the dark cloud which envelops the island.

Sour Milk by Violet Rays.

It has always been commonly believed that milk curdles owing to the change of temperature and that by using ice this difficulty would be overcome, according to Dr. Humbert Buzzoni in the Electrical Experimenter, but this precaution does not take away the primal cause. While germs in milk remain latent under the unfavorable environment of perhaps zero degree, they develop immediately upon being brought in contact with light and a more productive environment.

The moment ultra violet rays come in contact with the infinitesimal life development begins, and while it is true that some microbes are destroyed by the utra violet rays, it has been found that the inferior organisms generally develop more rapidly under the influence of these rays.

Sea Fish Oppose Goiter.

Sea fish of all kinds has been found to oppose goiter in communities where goiter prevails extensively. Authorities have attributed the remarkable prevalence of goiter and cretinism or myxoedema (physical defect due to failure of normal thyroid gland function) in Switzerland to the scarcity of sea food in that inland country. And there is some ground for the idea that a more frequent use of sea fish in the diet tends to prevent or cure simple goiter, which is rather excessively prevalent in the great lakes basin. Sea fish contains iodine in assimilable form, and it is to this element that the food's value in cases of goiter is ascribed.

Royal Priestess.

The most aristocratic religious institution in the world is that located at Prague, Austria. Only a princess of the imperial family can be appointed as its abbess. In a few cases, when ladies of less aristocratic birth have been chosen for the position, they have always been of noble birth and have enjoyed the right to the title of royal highness. The abbess is installed in office by a solemn ceremony, which is attended by all the high dignitaries of the church and state and an archduke to represent the emperor at the service.

Seer's Words Considered Infallible.

No one doubts the fortune teller in China. His word is regarded as infallible. When he becomes rich on the offerings of the credulous, the Chinese reader of the future installs himself in luxurious apartments. There, in a darkened room, the wealthy visit him just as the coolie did on the street.

Even a westerner becomes impressed with the sense of mysticism when he enters one of these chambers. About the wall hang red and black curtains, embroidered with Chinese characters. Strange, hideous faces of bronze idols peer from dim recesses; wavering lights flicker and cast protentous shadows. Spiral rings of incense ascend and evolve into mysterious shapes.

In the center of the room sits the spectacled oracle. Before he talks some one in the distance begins beating tom-toms; there are ghostly cries as he consults the spirits, but as he begins to speak in a monotone other sounds discontinue and one can almost hear the knees of the superstitious patrons knocking together in the semi-darkness.

Find Relics of Saxon Kings.

Capt. Vaughan Williams of Old Windsor has discovered what he believes to be the site of the palace of the Saxon kings and the pre-conquest town of Windsor. It is believed that there once stood at Old Windsor the palace of Edward the Confessor, but although several Saxon urns have been excavated here from time to time the actual position of the palace has never been decided.

Tighe and Davis, in their "Annals of Windsor," say that Old Windsor was probably selected by the Saxon kings as a residence for the same reason as it was subsequently repurchased by William the Conqueror, on account of its convenience for hunting in the forest. The lands of Windsor, granted by Edward the Confessor and exchanged by the abbot of Westminster with William, appear to have had reference to Old Windsor, and did not include the site of the present town or castle. King William held Old Windsor as his own demesne.

Troops Defy Tropical Heat.

Recent experiments by the British government in India with ultra-violet rays, says the Electrical Experimenter, are interesting, not only to army men but to scientists. In the experiments an under officer of the English army was completely clothed in garments which had been previously treated to withstand the ultra-violet rays. It was found that he was able to stay in the sun of midsummer for hours without feeling disturbance or inconvenience in any way. Upon this and other experiments the English government has adopted this method for the protection of its Indian troops against the ravages of tropical sunlight.

VALUE OF QUESTIONNAIRE

Army Inquisitorial Blank Helps Men of Draft Age to Find Themselves

The mothers and fathers of the nation, who have been wondering whether they better make a lawyer or a civil engineer of their son, have welcomed the "Questionnaire" sent by the war department to all men of draft age. At first glance it is a fearsome document, especially if one still has a vivid remembrance of examination papers, but its friendly purpose soon becomes apparent. One might search for a lifetime an dnever find a better exposition of the difference between the American way of doing things and the Prussian system. Germany says, "Go," "Come," "Do this" or "Est Verboten." The United States asks, "What have you done?" "What can you do?" "What would you like to do?"

"Would you be willing to take free evening school instruction, fitting you for service in the army before you are called to camp?" is an invitation which many a lad whose schooling was nipped in the grammar school bud will accept with alacrity.

The dominating idea back of this wonderful record, the most comprehensive attempted since Doomsday Book, is the classification of the young manhood of the nation in order that it may be turned to the best account, and it brings with it opportunities that might otherwise never have come to these millions of young men. All the young fellows who have been drudging along with little prospect of advance or improvement in the future, perhaps discontented with their lot and resentful because they feel that they have never had a chance, may know now that Opportunity is knocking at the door.

When Uncle Sam asks, "What can you do well?" he relies upon his sons to answer honestly, and in this long list nearly every calling under the sun has been set down, but there is another query at the bottom of the page, that nothing may be overlooked—"If you are an expert in any occupation not mentioned in these columns, write it here."

By the time a man has answered all these questions he will have made a fairly complete inventory of his accomplishments and supplied a simple history that may be far more eloquent than he imagines. When a man gives his calling as that of bricklayer or plumber or lawyer and then opposite the words "band instrument" writes "bugle" or "drum," the expert examiner will know that this is something this man does because he likes it When a man gives his occupation as that of a detective, but also qualifies as a draughtsman, there is a suggestion that this may mean something more than a dotted line showing the course of the footprints in the alley leading to the place where the body was found.

HOW OF 'THE LAST DAYS OF POMPEII'

A Big Feature of Lyceum Course at the Christian Church Tomorrow Night

"The Last Days of Pompeii" is the next Lyceum number at the Christian church, and will be shown tomorrow evening. This is another of the big productions of the Kleine-Edeson studios and is from the famous novel by Lord Bulwer-Lytton, and was filmed in and about the historic spot in Italy. The story of Glaucus and Ione is one of the masterpieces of literature.

A description of the last act says: "The great spectacle was at its height. There had been parades of the gladiators and the people had howled themselves hoarse over the valor of the gladiatorial combats. Everything was in readiness for the great feature of the day's sport—the death of Glaucus. Already the people yelled impatiently, "Glaucus to the lions!" and the Athenian was given a short sword and roughly pushed into the arena. The hunger-maddened lions sprang from their cages. Suddenly the wild, disheveled form of Sallut appeared, leaping from the boxes and shouting hoarsely, "Remove Glaucus, the Athenian! He is innocent! There stands the murderer!" A gutteral roar went up from the assembled thousands, in which could be heard excited cries of "Arbaces to the lions! Arbaces to the lions!" At that instant the sky suddenly darkened and from distant Vesuvius there shot into the sky a shaft of hellish fire. Panic seized the multitude and pandemonium reigned. In the confusion Arbaces escaped. The frightful catastrophe restored the reason of the demented Glaucus. He felt the touch of Nydia's hand in his and felt her leading him through the blinding hail of cinders to the home of Ione. They found Ione prepared for death, but the gentle Nydia led them both through the Stygian darkness to the temple of Isis. Here they met the distracted Arbaces and saw him crushed to death by a falling pillar of his own idolatrous church. Then, in a blackness where only the blind could see, Nydia guided the two lovers to the seashore. Knowing them safely aboard, Nydia suddenly threw herself into the waters of the bay. Her love-task ended, the blind girl at last found the eternal rest she sought."
